

Vaccination and the realm of life experience by Cornelis van Dalen

It is a subject which has captured the minds of many, especially the recipients who have felt and experienced adverse reactions from vaccinations. Then there are the many who perceive no benefit or cannot link anything detrimentally in themselves. This includes many within the medical profession, though not all. There are many within the medical community who benefit financially from vaccine administration and naturally the companies which make them. There are many who believe that vaccination is good and there are countless phrases or 'sound bites' to captivate the minds and imaginations of the profession and the public.

The origins of vaccination were recounted in the article 'The Holy Cow of Vaccination' [NP Spring 2005]. The prevention of diseases is an admirable objective; whether this is the correct approach is debatable. Certainly from the perspective of the Hahnemannian Homoeopath there is considerable clinical experience to show that homoeopathy splendidly helps people overcome the effects of diseases when such epidemics have arisen.

Yet the idea today exists in nearly every person that all childhood diseases especially, in the words of Health Departments and their minions, are a danger to the child; all diseases can be prevented through vaccination, it is claimed.

Vaccinosis

The homoeopathic founding fathers saw and have shown how people became diseased through vaccination. J. Compton Burnett, the London Homoeopath, called it vaccinosis; its main symptoms were of a neuralgic nature. In other words, vaccination affects the nervous constitution. This condition, which is imposed upon the human constitutional make-up, is called Sycosis. It is a dyscrasia which has enveloped all of mankind. It is the single most tragic perversion of human evolution under the guise medical treatment. Medicine is unwittingly being used to pervert human evolution.

It is not only a phenomenon of the affluent western world. Under the guise of altruism, the world's richest man Bill Gates of Microsoft, in tandem with WHO and various government programmes are ensuring that every child who is not influenced by 'Tesco' culture will be vaccinated. These are the children in the developing countries, the third world. No one anywhere will escape 'the jabs'. It is cheaper to jab than to give people access to clean water and the right to grow food peacefully.

The burgeoning schedule

Note that frequently some pharmaceutical PR firm will use the media to announce the development and trials for any number of vaccines: smoking and other addictions, cancer, and so on and so forth. In truth, the consensus of the powers that be is that the human being needs to be protected from itself. But in reality it prevents the person from coming to know the self. On the inner and subtlest aspects of existence, the power to know the self – the truth of human existence and of the rightful course in evolution, is being prevented. The course of mankind is being directed in a certain way – into darkness and not the light, as we can term it.

Many may say that this is not the case; that human life is better now than ever before in the history of civilisation and evolving for the good. It may not be apparent to many today that the modern world is essentially atheistic. Atheism, especially endemic in the West, is in part a product of vaccination. You may find this astounding.

Vaccination affects the body and soul

Miasms, says Ortega, represent everything that has been superimposed on his essential being, whether deriving from the environment or acquired by him in error. They also represent a false personality, that is a personality which does not correspond to his intimate essential nature... when man, the essential ego, succeeds in throwing off that adverse miasmatic sheath, he achieves this true expression.[1]

'To Hahnemann, miasms were defiling, polluting, contaminating and soiling; he speaks of them as infectious noxes. Crude drugs, however, may be added to these noxes, for they are part of the hydra-headed causes that make human beings sick.' [2]

J H Allen further writes: "I wish to say a few words about another mode of the entrances of the Sycotic poison into the organism, and that is through the vicious method of vaccination, now in vogue. We believe this to be a form of Sycosis, indeed we have no longer a doubt of it. vaccination causes to whole race to be Sycotic, and is the father of a multitude of skin diseases such as erysipelas, impetigo, psoriasis, morbelliform rashes, some forms of gangrene, erythemas, roseola, popular and pustular eruptions of different forms, urticaria, eczema, dermatitis and many others that might be mentioned. All cry out 'stop the death dealing process of vaccination or the whole race will soon become degenerated'. We believe the people should rise up as one man, and with one voice demand this thing to cease....let compulsory vaccination cease and no longer let the people and especially the innocent child be led as a sheep to slaughter.' [3]

This was written by John Henry Allen in the early years of the twentieth century, when small pox vaccination was compulsory. Since that time the number of vaccines or inoculations has risen dramatically and still increasing annually. The 2006 UK Vaccination schedule is of 32 'vaccinations' for a child up to five years of age, starting at two months or even earlier – soon after the first breath.

Psychosis or Sycosis?

Sycosis, when first heard, is often confused with psychosis. Sycosis is a chronic miasm, a taint, a stigma in homoeopathic terms, related to the symptoms of gonorrhoea [See article Chronic Diseases NP Summer 2005]. It is acquired by the gonorrhoea miasma and the allopathic treatment of the gonorrhoea. This meaning that the suppression of symptoms drives it deeper into the body, which is not its cure. It is transmitted sexually – the woman takes on the stage the man has got it – and vice versa. However, any elimination suppressed can become Sycotic, as quoted above by Hahnemann.

The hallmark of Sycosis is excess – any emotion expressed excessively. Herbert Roberts MD sums it up: “The Sycotic patient is exceedingly suspicious. The suspicion extends to the point where he dare not trust himself, and must go back and repeat what has been done or said, and wonders if he has said just what he means; he goes back and starts again. He is suspicious that he will be misunderstood, that his hearers will give the wrong meaning to what he is attempting to convey. This suspicion, when turned upon others, leads to the worst forms of jealousy of his friends, for he knows full well that he is not understood. The Sycotic taint develops the worst forms of degeneracy because of the basic suspicion and jealousy; patients will resort to any and all means of vindicating themselves in their own light. This is the most markedly degenerate of the stigmata, in its suspicion, its quarrelsomeness, its tendency to harm others and to harm animals. This produces the worst forms of cruelty and cunning deceit and the worst form of mania of any of the stigmata.”

“The Sycotic patient is cross and irritable.....is disposed to fits of anger, and when the Syphilitic taint is also present these people present the picture of the sullen, smouldering type that threatens to break out into dangerous manifestation. The Sycosis coupled with Psora, is the basis of most criminal insanity and of most suicides; degenerates are Sycotic or Syphilitic, or result from the combined destructiveness of the two stigmata.” [4]

In a perverted sense, the behavioural problems seen across the world in the young and adult alike, are the creation of orthodox medicine by the action of the prescribing of medication. Remove the Sycosis and Syphilitic taints homoeopathically, and many people would experience better health and no need for the drugs for depression and so forth.

While communities everywhere are seeing increasing unrest, violence, discontent of such proportions, no one is asking whether this in part or in whole is the result of vaccination – small pox and other vaccines in the older folk, measles and more in the middle of life folk and in the young (pre/school/university students) drastic problems one cannot even begin to consider – just ask any teacher worth their mettle.

The Fall of Darkness

We have only looked at one perspective of Sycosis. Ortega describes the miasm, the stigmata, as a false personality which when thrown off, allows the person to achieve his true expression. When we delve more deeply into this, we find this true expression to be one's purpose for living – Know Thyself and the economy of life. To discover who you are, what is life, is more than some quaint philosophical pleasure pursuit.

Note how the vaccination industry is ever seeking new 'vaccine' solutions to an ever-increasing array of diseases, but also to allay the lure of addictive substances. For example, vaccines to prevent nicotine and narcotic addiction; a vaccine for sexually transmitted disease (Human Papilloma Virus (HPV) thought to be the cause cervical cancer [5] is now ready to be employed on girls and young women. In all of this, the nature of the evolving person is not considered. Not one in the medical industry accredits the increasing power of disease to the soul. Anyone who has ever overcome an addiction, be it tobacco, sugar, gambling, sex and so on, by the power of their soul knows how this strengthens the inner being. Yes, 'lead us not into temptation,' does not mean take away the power to feel and come to know the self.

There are steps being taken to ensure that people will never come to know themselves. Modern genetics and genetic engineering is but the recasting of the science of eugenics, established in London in the early twentieth century. Today it has advanced to the notion of selfish and aberrant genes which must be eliminated at all costs for the future health of people. The reality is to eliminate or alter genes which supposedly predispose humans to disease and aberrant behaviour. It will mean that in future only healthy people are born and not anyone considered inferior.[6]

Rudolf Steiner, in a lecture series in 1917 entitled 'The Fall of the Spirits of Darkness,' discusses the effects of the darker forces upon life. One must not, in all earnestness, dismiss the existence of such forces. In one aspect, Steiner discusses the bacilli. The bacilli are life forms. No one asks what sort of life forms they are. We know where they live. They live in the darkness; they rummage around in the corpse of earth, in the dark recesses of the human, in the impure blood.

They are real as the detrimental effects of vaccination. In truth the dark forces love to be able to climb into a body riddled with vaccine and adjuvant toxins and noxious substances. Where the inner being is not sufficiently present in the body, a state of feeling spaced out, foggy headed, or under the influence of drugs (including medicinal) and alcohol, there the spirits of darkness enter. Everyone has these in his or her being.

Already, to speak of this is not at all acceptable. Science, through the use of PR agencies, has regularly published newspaper articles discrediting alternative and complementary medicine, especially anything related to healing. In the 1917 lecture series, Steiner prophesied in the lecture 'Changes in Humanity's Spiritual Makeup' as follows:

"The time will come - and it may not be far off - when quite different tendencies will come up at a congress like the one held in 1912 [7] and people will say: It is pathological for people to even think in terms of spirit and soul. 'Sound' people will speak of nothing but the body. It will be a sign of illness for anyone to arrive at the idea of any such thing as a spirit or a soul. People who think like that will be considered sick and - you can be quite sure of it - a medicine will be found for this. At Constantinople the spirit was made non-existent.[8] The soul will be made non-existent with the aid of a drug. Taking a 'sound point of view', people will invent a vaccine to influence the organism as early as possible, preferably as soon as it is born, so that this human body never even gets the idea that there is a soul and a spirit."

"The two philosophies of life will be in complete opposition. One movement will need to reflect how concepts and ideas may be developed to meet the reality of soul and spirit. The others, the heirs of modern materialism, will look for the vaccine to make the body 'healthy', that is, makes its constitution such that it no longer talks of such rubbish as soul and spirit, but takes the sound view of the forces which live in engines and in chemistry and let planets and suns arise from nebulae in the cosmos. Materialistic physicians will be asked to drive the souls out of humanity.” [9]

It is important to learn from the vaccination experience, study deeply the imposed Sycosis and the resultant thinking, responses and perceptions. It teaches about the dark aspects of life, the spirits of darkness. How many parents have actually witnessed the completely angelic child being turned into a monster overnight after vaccination? The Spirits of Darkness are also the spirits of material thought and expression. This is everywhere. It is for us to transform these materialistic ideas so that we can progress to a more spiritual form of existence. This is man’s true expression.
